SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE LEADS

BY 116 VOTES — NEW YORK VOTES FOR HARMON, WHILE
OHIO GIVES WILSON 10 VOTES.

NOMINATION PROBABLE TONIGHT

Although Many Look for Deadlock
With Bryan-Wilson Combination Holding Deciding Power—Convention Adjourned Early This Morning Until 4 o'clock This Afternoon.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, Md., June 28.—Special to Telegraph—The Delegates to the democratic convention held a stormy all-night session last night and did not adjourn until 7:10 this morning, voting then to take recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The last action taken before adjourning this morning was to take one ballot on the names that had been presented to the delegates during the night. Champ Clark, Woodrow Wilson, Judson Harmon and Underwood had been nominated for president and the result on the one ballot taken before retiring was as follows:

|-----------|-----|
| Clark | 440 |
| Wilson | 324 |
| Harmon | 148 |
| Underwood | 117 |
| Marshall | 31 |
| Baldwin | 22 |
| Bryan | 1 |

The New York delegation, which was uninstructed, voted solidly for Harmon, and the Ohio delegation voted 10 for Wilson and 35 for Harmon. The Ohio delegation was the only instructed delegation to disobey their instructions.

726 Votes Necessary.

Now that the Philippine delegation is ruled out of the voting it will be necessary that the men elected for the presidency gets 725 1-3 votes
—two thirds of the convention.

Various Predictions.

At noon today the leaders of the various faction of the democratic party made the following claims and predictions:

James of Kentucky said: It is certain to be Champ Clark on the second ballot.

Hall of Nebraska: It will be either Mayor Gainer of New York or Kern of Indiana.

Gaffey of Pennsylvania said, in regard to the effect of Bryan's resolution of last night, ruling out the monied interests and so-called bosses, to which ruling his bitterest enemies acceded and voted for: Bryan's action was suicidal and his strength is shattered.

Wood of Michigan said: Bryan killed Wilson's chance for the nomination when he introduced that resolution last night.

Bell of California said: Clark's chances are better this noon than ever.

Nomination Soon.

It is conceded that there is a very great likelihood of a nomination before 6 o'clock tonight and if none is forthcoming the chances are another all night session will be held and the delegates will keep at it until they nominate someone.

Many predict a deadlock on Wilson, Clark, Harmon and say a dark horse is the only possibility in the way of a compromise, for the delegation is split in at least two fairly divided parts by the action of Bryan last night. Many reactionary delegates declare the Wilson forces were at the bottom of the resolution introduced by Bryan and the New York bosses are so incensed over the action that they will not consent to Bryan or any of his friends for the nominee.

THERMOMETER REACHED 90.

The government thermometer reached 90 degrees today, but relief is in sight, as a 4 p. m. it had drop-ed to 87.

CARDINALS PLAY LEE CENTER.

FORMER PROMINENT FRANKLIN MAN DIED

HENRY BLACK, FORMER POST-MASTER OF FRANKLIN GROVE, AN AGED VETERAN, HAS GONE TO FINAL REST—FUNERAL IN FRANKLIN TOMORROW.

Franklin Grove, June 28.—Special to the Telegraph—Henry Black, a former honored resident of this city, died at his home in St. Charles yesterday, going to his reward after many years' illness. He will be brought to Franklin Grove and the funeral will be held here tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Mr. Black, who was very prominent in Franklin Grove at the time of his residence here and who was at one time postmaster of this town, was a member of the 75th Ill. Vol.
Inf., and made an honorable record in the civil war.

He moved from Franklin about 20 three years ago. He was 71 years old at the time of his death. He had been an invalid for about 19 years, fifteen of which he practically spent in a wheel chair, for he was partially paralyzed. A brother, George Black, lives in Franklin Grove. The wife of the deceased survives him. There are three children living: Mrs. Butts, of West Chicago, and Lindsey Black.
Mrs. Nate Waitney is a sister in law and Mrs. Carrie Bostick of Clinton, Ia., and Mrs. Annie Dow of Oklahoma are sisters.

EBERSOLE HOMESTEAD BRINGS $208 PER ACRE

NINETY ACRES WEST OF PRAIRIE-VILLE SOLD AT AUCTION
FOR GOOD PRICE.

The Christian R. Ebersole homestead of 90 acres, located one-half mile west of Prairieville on the S. D.
& E. railway, was sold yesterday at public auction by the executor of the estate, the land bringing $208 per acre. A price of $185 had been offered prior to the sale, but Auctioneer Pittman pushed the price up to $208. Herman G. Matznick, who resides north of Sterling, was the buyer. A timber tract of six and one-half acres belonging to the same estate was purchased by Joseph Gooch for $142.50 per acre.

LONG AUTO PARADE.

Fourteen automobiles enroute to Fort Dodge, Ia., from the factory at Jackson, Mich., passed through Dixon at 11 o'clock last evening. The spectacle was a pretty one, all of the cars being the same make, and resplendent in their newness.

DISQUIETING INFORMATION.

A list just issued by the department of agriculture shows adulterations in 183 varieties of foods and forty-one kinds of beverages.

What an awful time we have had keeping alive and safe in the age of knowledge.

Our food is adulterated by those who produce or prepare it. Nature herself is against us. We have billions of germs in the milk fresh from the cow, and our beverage direct from the bubbling spring is really alive with typhoid bugs. Our clothing is adulterated. The paint on our house, the polish on our furniture is adulterated, and the very air we breathe at night is alive with aerial vermin.

Most of us are restricted to a few varieties of food, and our scientists show us 183 tainted varieties at one dip. Most of us are restricted to two or three varieties of drink, and behold, it is easy to discover 41 adulterated drinks.

ARE QUITE ILL.

Mrs. James Ballou and Mr. Ballou Sr. are quite ill and under the care of a professional nurse.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—The Democratic national convention, in the midst of turmoil and tumult, on the motion of William J. Bryan declared last night, by a vote of 889 to 180, that no man should be nominated for president who is the representative of, or under obligations to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan or August Belmont. Morgan is a Republican. Ryan is a Democrat, a delegate from Virginia. He sat with the other Virginians in the hall while he was read out of the party. He was silent, grim, impassive. Once he stood up. His fellow delegates crowded round him. The cry went up that he would take the platform and defend himself against the bitterest attack ever made on any man in any American political convention. August Belmont also is a Democrat, a delegate from the First district of New York. He was not present when Bryan lashed him with the others, as a curse to the party.

Was a Stunning Surprise.

The whole matter was a most stunning surprise. Only Bryan's most intimate friends knew what was coming. Delegates, alternates and visitors had settled down to hear the usual nominating speeches.

There was a cheer when Bryan came in before the call to order and took the most prominent seat on the platform, but a few feet from the gallery, where Mrs. Taft looked on and listened. Hardly was the prayer ended when he stood up and was recognized and in strong, vigorous voice, making each word tell, pausing after each name, so that you could hear the ring and the vibration of each tone as he denounced J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan and August Belmont.
He seemed to frame the very men themselves and displayed them to the audience. There was a hiss and venom in his enunciation.

The original resolution had demanded the withdrawal from the convention of Ryan and Belmont, but this brought forth such a swift and direct challenge from those states that he withdrew it.

After vote was taken the presentation of presidential candidates began.
Alabama was the first state called and Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, floor leader of the house of representatives, was the first candidate. His name was presented by William G. Bankhead.

Arizona yielded to Missouri and James A. Reed presented the name of Speaker Champ Clark.

When Connecticut was reached Henry Wade Rogers nominated Simeon S. Baldwin.

At 2:30 a. m. Judge John W. Wescott of New Jersey presented the name of Prof. Woodrow Wilson. His speech was followed by a demonstration that lasted for thirty minutes.

A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania seconded the nomination of Wilson and another demonstration took place.

Night Session Opens.
Although the night session of the Democratic national convention was called for 8 o'clock the Armory began to fill at 7 o'clock. By half past seven it was packed. The streets were filled with women and children. All Baltimore was out. Before night there was not standing room, but everybody was standing and everybody was shouting. All kinds of noise-making instruments added to the din.

At 8:11 Chairman Ollie James called tion at the Democratic Convention Hall in Baltimore will be posted on the Telegraph bulletin board at Eli's Cigar store

be posted as long as anything of interest is going on in the convention hall, or will a nomination is made.

MORE STREETS TO GET OIL BATH

AVENUES AROUND THE BORDEN PLANT TO BE TREATED—COM-MERCIAL ALLEY AND HENNE-PIN AVENUE—OIL GOOD FOR PAVEMENTS.

Vaile & McIntyre have closed a contract with the Borden management to oil Palmyra avenue from the Illinois Central viaduct to a point near the River road and also all of the highways leading into the factory.

The firm has just received new samples of a street oil, called Tasscoil, which will be used on the above street, and which it is expected will be used exclusively hereafter. The new oil, which is colorless, is much thinner than the crude oil used heretofore and is odorless. While it is a trifle more expensive than the black oil, it will spread further, penetrate more quickly and will not track.

This oil has been used in many of the larger cities for oiling brick pavements, and the reports indicate its value for that purpose. It is very probable that several blocks of pavement in Dixon will be oiled, as the merchants have exhibited a great interest in it. The local firm last evening put oil on several pieces of pavement in the business district, and this morning results show that the conditions regarding the new oil are not exaggerated.

It is also announced by Vaile & McIntyre that Hennepin avenue is to be oiled from First street to River street, and that Commercial alley will be oiled between Galena and Hennepin avenues.

LEE'S CONTRIBUTION TO STATE TREASURY

IS $95,591.78, WHICH IS STATE'S SHARE OF COUNTY
TAXES.

Lee county's contribution to the state treasury from the taxes collected this spring will total $95,591-78, the last installment of which County Treasurer Frank C. Vaughan will turn over to State Treasurer Mitchell tomorrow. During April Mr.
Vaughan made two partial settlements with the state, paying $66,- 737.58 that month. This afternoon he left for Springfield taking with him a draft for the last settlement, amounting to $28,854.20. A small part of this money is for the payment of drainage bonds, which have been registered by the state treasurer's office, but the greater amount is for the general state and school taxes.

DEMOCRATS TAKE UP NOMINATIONS IN BIG CONVENTION

Permanent Chairman James Addresses Body After Which a Recess Is Taken.

SEN. LA FOLLETTE IS PRESENT

Kentucky Senator Devotes Speech to an Attack on Republican Party and President Taft, Especially as to Tariff Policy.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—The Democratic national convention has taken up the work of nominating a candidate for president.

The convention adjourned until evening at 3:59 o'clock after Senator Elect James of Kentucky was elected permanent chairman on the report of the committee on permanent organization of the convention, had finished his address. As James concluded the delegates rose and cheered.

Senator La Follette, the Republican progressive, arrived in the convention hall as Mr. James sat down and was escorted to the platform. He had hardly reached there when a motion to recess until 8 p. m. was put and carried. The delegates were tired and wished to postpone the nominating speeches.

Chairman James Addresses Convention
Ollie James, senator-elect from Kentucky, permanent chairman of the convention, said to the delegates on taking the chair:

"I congratulate the Democrats of the nation upon the fortunate auspices under which we have assembled. No charge of bribery hovers above this hall, no cry of 'cheat' and 'robber' is hurled by one fellow Democrat at another. No soldiers stand in reserve to keep us from each other's throats.
Our deliberations here shall be for the country's good, tolerant of each other's views, believing, as I do, that when the nominees are named by this convention they will have back of them every loyal Democrat in the republic, as well as the hearty support of progressives everywhere. The Democratic party is essentially a party of the people because it is the people.
It has fought a long, hard battle, when it seemed that night would never end; but that day would never dawn; but the battle in the interest of the rights of the people they have continued to make until we see the common enemy, the once great Republican party, divided, distracted and torn asunder, while Democracy is united, harmonious and militant.

Two Records for the People.

"There are two records that will be presented to the American people in the coming campaign for their consideration. One is the record of the Republican party, with promises betrayed, arrogantly, defiantly betrayed, and the other is the record of the Democratic party of promises faithfully and honestly kept. The Republican party itself, recognizing that President Taft had been unfaithful to the great mass of Americans, refused by an honest majority of the convention to renominate him, and his renomination was brought about only by the most wholesale, conscienceless and deliberate unseating of delegates honestly elected that was ever perpetrated in American politics. The Republican party, flushed with many victories, imperious as a tyrant, unheeding the demands of the people, took the reins of the government in 1908 under the solemn promise that they would revise the tariff in the interest of the consumer. Instead of keeping this promise, as they should have done, because it was their bond of honor, they betrayed it. They raised the tariff higher than ever before until
it reached its maximum of protection, 47 per cent.

Hits at Tariff Boards.

"The American people are told in the tariff plank recently adopted in Chicago that a report from the tariff board is wanted before any legislation is attempted. This is a motion for continuance from a guilty client made up by an expert criminal lawyer. When does a demand for a report of a tariff board come to our ears? It is when the tariff has already been fixed so high that they know they can get it no higher, and if the people's representatives were allowed to speak they would reduce it.

Wants No Aldrichized Finances.

"The Democratic party of this country never will consent that our finances shall be Aldrichized or controlled by the money trust, for they are inspired by the thought that 'Old Hickory' Jackson more than three-quarters of a century ago stood in front of the people's treasury and beat back these money changers. That spirit still lives in the heart of the American Democracy.

"The war is over and that flag, the

FORMER DIXON MAN MENTIONED IN SUIT

CHICAGO PAPER CONTAINS THE
NAME OF FORMER LOCAL JEW-ELER, G. O. WENDEL, BLACK-LISTED BY KEYSTONE CO.

Today's Chicago Tribune tells of the suit against the Keystone Watch Case company of Philadelphia by the government, which charges the company with having violated the Sherman anti-trust law, and the article contains mention of G. O. Wen-del of Dixon and Burridge & Connel, Erie.

These firms are mentioned in connection with several others in Illinois, who are said to be on the Keystone company's "black list," which is a list of merchants alleged to have refused to sell because the merchants did not obey their orders in regard to selling their products.

The company's attempt to control trade by "blacklisting" their customers is being investigated by government officials in Chicago.

Mr. Wendel, who is mentioned in the article, is not in business in Dixon at present. He sold out his jewelry store to Kling & Courtright and is living in Arizona.

However, it is rumored that Mr.
Wendel is expecting to return to Dixon soon.

Centralia Sentinel: A trade was closed today through Englis & Els by which H. C. Higgins of the Gas and Electric company became the purchaser of the magnificent McCullough home at the east end of Broad way. The sale not only includes the elegant mansion, but also the nine acres of pretty grounds about it. It is one of the most commodious and modern residences in this part of the country and Mr. Higgins has been fortunate in securing a rare bargain as the property, we understand, was sold far below its actual costs. Mr.
Higgins will take possession at once and will make the place his home hereafter.

gether in a banner of the free, waves fended by every hand. And, coming from the south as I do, I can say that if Abraham Lincoln were alive this night there is not a foot of soil under Dixie's sky under which he might not pitch his tent and pillow his head up on a confederate soldier's knee and sleep and sleep in safety there."

SUB-COMMITTEE HAS PROGRESSIVE BRYAN PLATFORM

Democratic Declaration of Principles Dominated by the Nebraskan.

WRITES IMPORTANT PLANKS

Platform, Tariff and Money Work of Commoner—Downward Revision Is Demanded—Change in Banking Laws Is Strongly Advocated.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—A progressive Bryan platform was adopted by the subcommittee of 11 members of the resolutions committee of the Democratic national convention. It was a clean victory for William Jennings Bryan. He was given full leeway.
There was no friction and as a matter of fact, Bryan put the lid on several radical ideas which were presented by committee members for consideration. In these instances Bryan switched from a progressive to a conservative.
The Commoner dominated.

Tariff and Money.
The two most important features of the platform as prepared are the planks on tariff and money. Mr. Bryan wrote both these planks.

The tariff plank declares for an immediate downward revision of the present high protective tariff, especially upon the necessities of life, and the removal of duty on those commodities which are controlled by trusts and sold cheaper abroad than at home. It also declares that the federal government has no right to impose tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue and that the collection should be limited to the necessities of the government when honestly and economically administered. In this same connection the present administration and the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill will be severely arraigned.

Revision of Banking Laws.

The plank referring to the financial and banking system contains an arrangement of Wall street manipulations and of the present national banking regulations. Here Mr. Bryan wrote his pet ideas for the adoption of legislation which will insure protection for the eighteen to twenty million bank depositors. It will oppose the establishment of a central bank, but will provide for a revision of the banking laws which will not only insure protection but prevent any small group of financiers or politicians from controlling the banks and the money of the country.

There is a plank devoted to the election of senators by the direct vote of the people and declaring for a direct primary law which will do away with the political boss and boss-ridden conventions. There is also a recommendation for a constitutional amendment making presidents ineligible for re-election and fixing the term of office at six years.

Merchant Marine.

Taking up the merchant marine proposition a declaration is made for the development and strengthening of the commercial ties which bind us to the republics of the south without additional burden on the people or subsidies from the treasury. A private monopoly is termed indefensible and intolerable. Legislation is recommended for the criminal and civil punishment of trust magnates. A law is also recommended against duplicating directors among competing corporations. A federal license law for corporations to prevent watered stock and control of any one commodity is also expected as a plank. There is a comprehensive plank on interstate commerce, urging more strength for the present laws governing railroads.

Protection for the Worker.

There is a reiteration of the 1908 plank favoring the protection of the laboring man from injustice under injunctions. Other planks favor change in the civil service laws and granting of pensions; a national health board;
great lakes to gulf deep waterway; improvement in the employers' liability laws; strengthening of the navy, post roads and commendation of the Democratic house of representatives for its record of achievements.

NEW BUILDING RENTED.

The Western Union Telegraph offices will occupy the ground floor of

Not the Original Liberty Bell.

A correspondent of the Literary Digest avers that the famous crack in the Liberty Bell is not a crack, but only the fac-simile of a crack. His assertion is that the original bell was indeed cracked, but that the present bell is a recast from a model of the old one, with the crack filled up, though still showing the lines of the defect.

NIGHT MARRIAGE IS VALID

Secret Union of Farmer and House-Maid in Ireland Held to Be Binding in Law.

Dublin.—Justice Kenney recently delivered judgment in the "midnight marriage case" of Ussher and Ussher, which came before him in December last.

The plaintiff, William Arland Ussher, a gentleman farmer of Eastwell, Galway, sought to obtain a decree of nullity of his marriage with his wife, Mrs. Mary Ussher. The petition was dismissed.

He alleged that the marriage was null and void owing to the fact that only one witness was present and that the marriage was not carried out according to the rites and ceremonies of the Roman Catholic church or according to law.

The evidence showed that the marriage took place on April 24, 1910. Up to that time the petitioner had been a Protestant, while the respondent, Mary Caulfield, was a maid in the employment of his mother. After 10 p. m. on April 24 the parish priest, the Rev. Joseph Fahy, went secretly to the house and was taken upstairs to a bedroom.

There he received Mr. Ussher into the Roman Catholic church, baptized him, and then performed the marriage ceremony between Mr. Ussher and Mary Caulfield. The marriage was kept a secret and a child was born in January, 1911.

Justice Kenney held that the marriage was valid. His lordship said, it was clear from the evidence of the Most Rev. Dr. Gilmarin that in the eyes of the Church of Rome the marriage was absolutely ineffectual, and that the petitioner and respondent were living in a state of sin.

But he (Judge Kenney) held that marriages between Roman Catholics were governed by the common law of the land. They were in law uninfluenced by the decree of the council of Trent requiring two witnesses.

The intention of the parties to be married was clear, despite petitioner's contention that it was a contract conditional on their being married subsequently in a manner that would be approved by the church.

CHEERING IN THE COMMONS

Various Kinds of Applause That Are to Be Heard in the British Lower House.

The giving of applause in the British house of commons has attained the dignity of a science. A cheer from a single member is not infrequent, but has little significance unless it comes from an important personage. It is cheering in chorus that constitutes the British demonstration.

The tone of the cheering varies according to the temper of those who cheer. First, there is the hearty, full-voiced cheer of genuine approval, resounding, awakening the echoes and full of encouragement.

Next comes the low, subdued cheer, gradually spreading along all the benches, indicating the deep-seated agreement that does not seek vociferous or hilarious expression. This is employed either on solemn occasions or in moments of pathos or in acknowledgment of some confession on the part of an opponent.

Ironical cheering is often heard in the commons. The tone of sarcasm is always unmistakable. Often it is the greeting accorded to an argument or a statement by an opponent, for the formal denying of which there may not be an opportunity. It is hostile but frequently good natured enough.

As an intensification of this there is the sarcastic cheer, far sharper and more incisive. Mingled with laughter, it is, from the British standpoint, as disconcerting to the speaker as anything may well be.

Great Piece of Luck.

An English laboring man took a mezzotint into Christie's art rooms in London the other day and was astonished to be told that it was worth $1,785. It was the "Children Bathing" of J. Ward, a famous eighteenth century engraver and painter.

WHITE PIGEON BROUGHT LUCK

Perched on Wheel Box of the Fishing Boat and Gave It Fine Maiden Trip.

It is one of the pet beliefs of the fishing fleet folk that when a white bird flies aboard a ship at sea good luck is bound to follow. And if a white bird happens to fly aboard a brand new craft it insures the vessel with all kinds of joy forever. Out on Georges, two weeks ago today, a little pigeon fluttered down on the deck of the good ship Mary, perching on the wheel box. Result—good luck. Although Capt. Whallen's boat struck mighty hard weather, it came through without a scratch and landed 130,000 pounds of mixed ground fish, mostly hake and cusk, which is pretty nearly the record catch for a maiden trip.

The pigeon looked as though it had had some pretty hard luck itself before it fell in with the Mary, however. One of its wings was badly torn, as though a gull or a hawk had taken a piece out of it. The men aboard took good care of the pigeon, giving it plenty of food, although they made no attempt to confine it to any one part of the vessel. The bird made friends with every one, especially the cook, and refused to eat except out of the men's hands. As the Mary came up the harbor this morning, the bird was adeck. Abreast of Governor's Island he suddenly took wing and flew away. The men said it looked to them as though the bird had recognized his surroundings in the inner harbor and had flown for home.—Boston Globe.

Abe grinned like a good fellow. "Well sah," he replied, "I wouldn't call dat no birth. Dat am a section, sah."

BRAYN RESOLVES RYAN AND BELMONT

the convention to order. Rev. J. Ross Stevenson of the Brown Memorial church prayed. At 8:20 p. m. Bryan arose and offered the following resolution to the convention:

Bryan's Resolution.

"Resolved, That in this crisis in our party's career, and in our country's history, this convention sends greeting to the people of the United States, and assures them that the party of Jefferson and of Jackson is still the champion of popular government and equality before the law. As proof of our fidelity to these people, we hereby declare ourselves opposed to the nomination of any candidate for president who is the representative of, or under any obligation to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont or any other member of the privilege-hunting and favor-seeking class."

The part withdrawn not voted upon was as follows:

"Be it further resolved, That we demand the withdrawal from this convention of any delegate or delegates constituting or representing the above named interests."

Convention in Turmoil.

There was an explosion. Delegates from Virginia shouted in opposition. After much disorder Bryan got his way and spoke to his resolution.

It was a direct personal attack on the three men, Morgan, Ryan and Belmont.

There was disorder at the end of every period. In the name of six million Democrats he read Ryan and Belmont out of the party. Soon he had the crowd wild in disorder, quieted, the disorder ceased and the crowd broke into cheers.

The orator surpassed himself. Those who were in Chicago in 1898 said it was more thrilling than the cross of gold speech. When he assaulted Murphy boldly by name there was the greatest cheering of the evening, followed by protests. Ryan, Belmont and Murphy sat quiet and unmoved. The platform filled with orators anxious to answer.

Commoner's Speech.

Bryan spoke as follows in part: "This is an extraordinary resolution, but extraordinary conditions need extraordinary remedies."

"We are now in convention to nominate our candidate for president and vice-president. I believe that every delegate here desires to nominate candidates who can and will win. In order to advance the cause of our candidate I present this resolution."

"There is not a delegate in this convention who is not aware that an effort is being made to sell the Democratic party into bondage to predatory interests. This is the most brazen, the most impudent attempt ever made in the history of American politics to dominate a convention, stifle the people's will and make the party's nominee the bond slave of the men who exploit the people."

"I need not tell you J. Pierpont Morgan, August Belmont, Thomas Fortune Ryan, who are the dominant figures in the money trust of this country and who are merciless in their demands of their slaves."

"Some one has said we have no right to discuss the make-up of the delegations which come here from a sovereign state."

"If there are men willing to insult 5,500,000 Democrats, we ought to speak out and let them know we are trying to represent them. I for one am not willing that Thomas F. Ryan and August Belmont shall come here, with their paid attorneys, and seek secret council with the managers of our party and no sense of courtesy shall keep me from protecting my party from the disgrace impending."

"If this convention is to be run by these men, if the nominee is to be a man who is controlled by these men, I pray you to give us an opportunity to record our protest against such conditions."

"If any of you want a nominee who represents these men and these interests you must take the responsibility for such a nominee. I refuse."

Bryan Makes Proposition.

"I'll make you a proposition. One of these men votes with New York, one with Virginia. If the state of New York will poll its delegation and a majority of these delegates, not Mr. Murphy, but a majority asks the withdrawal of the name of August Belmont as a delegate, and Virginia demands the withdrawal of Mr. Ryan, I will then withdraw the last part of my resolution, which demands the withdrawal of these men from the convention as delegates. I will not withdraw the first part of the resolution, which demands that our candidate shall be free."

Congressman H. D. Flood of Virginia interposed a question. He said: "In the name of the sovereign state of Virginia I accept the insolent proposition made by the only man in this convention who would dare to make it."

Convention Goes Wild.

This was fighting to the death. The amphitheater went wild. Again and again the disorder broke loose.

Ryan himself stood up and the Virginia delegates gathered around him. The audience went clear beyond control. Delegates by the thousands were on their chairs. No one knew what was coming. The New York delegation was on its feet. In 1892 they started to walk out when Bourke Cockran was howled down. They seemed ready to do the trick again.

Vardaman emerged from the chaos with his usual face and long black locks. He dominated the hall, but the excitement continued. Bryan had certainly stirred up wild passions and emotions. Vardaman preached moderation. He held the house. He approved the first part of the resolution, but objected to any opposition to the right of the states to select their own delegates.

Chairman Orders Roll Call.

Lewis Nixon appeared for New York but the chairman declared the debate at an end and ordered the roll call announcing that it required a two-thirds vote to pass it. The motion is to suspend the rules and pass the resolution, and it was then voted upon. Alabama had to vote first. There was nothing but tumult here. Men wrestled mightily there. It was evident that the delegates were trying to avoid committing themselves.

"They're scared to death," was the cry. "Make them vote; make them vote," was heard from all parts of the hall. A start was finally made.

The surprise of the night came when New York plumped her whole 99 votes against Ryan and Belmont. Men could not believe their ears. Yet there was no cheer, neither was there a hiss or a boo. There were many changes and then Indiana jumped in first with 27 against the "predatory interests," two in favor of and one refusing to vote. Changes became frequent and the clerks were at their wits' end to keep track of the rapid shifts and changes.

The result was greeted with some feeble cheering. There was no enthusiasm. It was evident that the delegates had been forced to take a stand and they did not like it.

Nominations Are Begun.

Without delay the nominations for president were called for.

W. B. Bankhead of Alabama led off for Underwood.

As Mr. Bankhead completed his speech at 11:15 p. m., nominating Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama started a demonstration for their favorite son, Banners, flags and lithographs were waved. Georgia, Mississippi and some of California's delegates joined in the cheering.

The Underwood demonstration ended at 11:44, having lasted 26 minutes. Arizona yielded to Missouri and Senator James A. Reed took the stand to nominate Champ Clark.

Clark's Ovation Lasts One Hour. As the senator named Champ Clark at 12:25 a. m. a tremendous demonstration broke forth. Massachusetts displayed a streamer 30 feet long. Innumerable banners and flags were brought forth. Balloons, bearing Clark's name were sent into the air.

For the first time since the convention started the state standard were uprooted and carried about the hall by the Clark enthusiasts.

A stout Missourian, with thirty or more followers, most of them gray-haired veterans of many Democratic wars, marched about singing: "We won't go home until morning."

Miss Genevieve Clark, a daughter of Champ Clark, suddenly appeared in the speakers' stand. In dainty blue and wrapped in an American flag, she urged the Clark delegates to renewed enthusiasm.

At 1:25 a. m. the convention was called to order by Senator Vardaman the demonstration having lasted one hour.

Baldwin Is Nominated.

Henry Wade Rogers of New Haven Conn., nominated Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin of Connecticut. Connecticut delegates held a demonstration among themselves after the conclusion of Mr. Rogers' speech. They waved a bright banner and yelled for Governor Baldwin for several minutes. Some of the Underwood folks helped out. So did a squad of rooters in the galleries.

Wilson Men Win.

The most significant feature of the day session of the Democratic national convention was the unseating of the ten Clark delegates of South Dakota, who had been declared legally elected by the committee on credentials, and the seating of ten Wilson men. The vote was 639 1/2 to 437.

This contest on the floor of the convention hall, carried on with the accompaniment of an unprecedented uproar in which all of the candidates were boosted vocally and followed by the speech of Ollie James, the permanent chairman, took up the time until the convention took a recess until 8 o'clock in the evening.

Bar Philippine Delegates.

The vote by which the Wilson men defeated the Clark men in South Dakota was first announced as 639 1/2 to 437, but John Sharp Williams raised the point that it had been held by the courts that the Philippines have no legal right to a standing in a national convention, and as a result the delegates who came from America's far-off possessions on the other side of the world were declared to be voiceless in the participation of the great gathering.

Illinois Fight Is On.

Hearst forces in Illinois abandoned their contest. They called off a minority report it was intended to bring into the convention dissenting from the majority report seating the "regulars," or followers of Roger C. Sullivan.

WALTON ON BIRDS' SONGS

Famous Author of "The Compleat Angler" Appreciated Music of His Feathered Friends.

At first the lark, when she means to rejoice, to cheer herself, and those that hear her, she then quits the earth and sings as she ascends higher into the air; and having ended her heavenly employment, grows then mute and sad, to think she must descend to the dull earth, which she would not touch but for necessity. Now do the blackbird and the thrush, with their melodious voices, bid welcome to the cheerful spring, and in their fixed mouths warble forth such ditties as no art or instrument can reach to. Nay, the smaller birds do the like in their particular seasons; as, namely, the laverock, the titlark, the little linnet and the honest robin, that loves mankind, both alive and dead. But the nightingale, another of my airy creatures, breathes such sweet, loud music out of her little instrumental throat that it might make mankind think miracles are not ceased. He that at midnight, when the very laborer sleeps securely, should hear—as I have very often—the clear airs, the sweet descants, the natural rising and falling, the doubling and redoubling of her voice, might well be lifted above earth and say:

"Lord, what music hast thou provided for the saints in heaven, when thou affordest to bad men such music upon earth!"—Isaac Walton's "The Compleat Angler."

HOW TRUE HOME IS CREATED

It Never Can Be Made Deliberately, But Must Just Grow Through the Years.

Probably only when a man comes to get married does he realize how full the world is of people ready and anxious to give advice. This is an age of advice giving; and particularly it is an age of advice giving to those about to wed. I have a fairly large circle of young married acquaintances, and I am bound to say that every now and then I seem to come across the trail of the Advice Giver in the shape of some examples of the result of Advice Taken.

Far too much advice, there is no doubt, is uttered by "artistic" people on this really absolutely simple matter of house-interior decoration. The true home interior is never created deliberately. It happens. Through the years it accumulates, it develops, it grows and blossoms forth into its final beauty—or ugliness, as the case may be. The lovely old cottage and farm interiors so much imitated nowadays were not the result of conscious decoration or design; they were instinctive. They "grewed." No "decorator expert" was called in to devise their harmonies, to think out pretended "accidental" groupings of furniture, window-seat, oak beams, and the rest. Beauty was evolved, just because there was no forethought, no conscious decoration.—Exchange.

Great Artist Poorly Paid.

The report from New York of the sale of the two famous portraits by Velasquez, the one of Philip IV. and the other of his minister, the Grand Duke Olivarez, brings to light the interesting fact that he received "on account" the sum of eight hundred reals (£8) for these and one of Senor Garciopera. At very much the same time Van Dyck, despite a highly successful time in northern Italy, was finding to his cost that Antwerp, his birthplace, had little liking for his genius. In fact, we find him stating that at one time he had a "certain fat brewer as his only patron." And even that patron failed him, because when it came to a matter of remuneration the brewer's greed shrank from an extortionate payment of two pistoles for the painting of one portrait! —T. P.'s Weekly.

Meaning of "Kalamazoo."

A contraction of an Indian phrase descriptive of the stones seen through the water in its bed, and which, from a refractive power in the current, resemble others swimming beneath the surface. Such is the explanation, and the only one, as far as I know, that has been given, of the meaning of the word Kalamazoo, and the author of this remained unknown to me until a short time ago, when I accidentally discovered that it was H. R. Schoolcraft. . . . The fact is that the alleged word nekikanamazoo given by Schoolcraft is a deliberate alteration by him of kikalamazoo, written by the French at a period when some dialect of Ojibwa, to which the word belongs, was still using the letter l. It is a slight (very slight) alteration of old Ojibwa kikalamazoo, meaning "he is inconvenienced by smoke in his lodge,"—American Anthropologist.

MR. ROPER ABLY ANSWERS THE CRITICISM OF HIS FORMER COMMUNICATION.

Dixon Telegraph:

Some one has kindly, or perhaps unkindly, sent me a copy of the Dixon Weekly Citizen of June 20th and called my attention to an article in which the author takes occasion to inform me that the republican party was not entitled to the fruits of victory in the slave holders' rebellion, which culminated in 1896, and cites me to the names of some eminent democrats who responded to their country's call in '61. This is no revelation. I could name hundreds more whom I knew, and no doubt there were hundreds of thousands who offered their lives for the preservation of the Union. All of those he speaks of, except Senator Douglas, I saw frequently during the war and some of them, especially Grant and Logan, I talked with on different occasions, after the war. My friend, who so proudly enumerates that list of loyal democrats, who went into the war as democrats, putting their patriotism above party, forgets to tell you that barely one of the four generals ever again affiliated with the democratic party. Perhaps the republican party is not justly entitled to the honor and distinction of preserving the Union, but Abraham Lincoln was its guide and sponsor, and never have I found one so bold as to claim that this same great Lincoln was not fully and justly entitled to the honor and glory of not only preserving but perpetuating this Union. Because John A. Logan was a greenbacker, that fact did not commit the republican party to flat money. We loved, honored, obeyed and respected John A. Logan for the good there was in him; held up the mantle of charity to cover his faults. Because Jefferson Davis, Robert Toombs and John C. Breckenridge were traitors to their country, that did not make Stephen A. Douglas or George B. McClelland traitors. I ought to say now, perhaps, that the article that I wrote was not intended to detract or lessen any honors that might belong to the democratic party, but to caution republicans to be mindful as to their decisions, and to remind them of some of its achievements in the past. Of course we go back to the war, and with pride, for we are not ashamed of the record. My friend dubbed me a "Moss-Back," and I have only to say that in referring to some of the victories the republican party has won, and in naming some of the great principles for which it has stood in the past, entitles me to be called a "Moss-Back." I have no objection to the title. My kind friend did not answer, nor did he attempt to answer, any of the questions asked, so there can be no controversy so far as they are concerned. I take this occasion to say now, I do not believe that the democratic party, as a party, mind you, was or could be, in any sense, entitled to any credit for saving the Union. Why? Because it opposed the prosecution of the war in every way possible at its limited command. Finally in the national convention assembled in 1864, it declared that the effort to restore the Union was a failure, and on its platform nominated as standard bearer the gallant and popular Geo. B. McClelland, another democrat who put patriotism above party and repudiated the stigma which the democratic party attempted to cast upon Lincoln's conduct of the war. He said that the war was not a failure, but instead, that it was a success. How can the democratic party even claim kinship to a great national victory which it denounced and in its final struggles for supremacy declared it had been a failure. The republican party is not a perfect party but it is the best party that we yet know of. Unscrupulous, ambitious leaders and false prophets may destroy it, but they can never obliterate its honorable record.

Very respectfully,
J. A. ROPER.

ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN
Lansing, Mich., June 28.—Governor Charles S. Osborn has sent a telegram and letter to Col. Roosevelt congratulating the latter for the stand he has taken with reference to a third party.

EVELYN IS AFRAID OF HARRY THAW

Woman Who Caused Her Dissipated
Husband to Become a Murderer
Now Tries to Keep Him in the Asylum.

White Plains, June 28.—Harry K. Thaw passed five hours yesterday, the sixth anniversary of his shooting of Stanford White, on the witness stand under fire of examination by Wm. T. Jerome who is opposing Thaw's fight for release from Matteawan asylum.

Jerome declared his questioning was within the province of a mental examination, and he was upheld by Judge Keogh, but was unsuccessful in his apparent attempts to make the witness display undue agitation. The question of Thaw's motive in killing White did not bother him.

"It was on account of the cold-blooded way in which he had done things to my wife and other girls," he declared firmly.

White Plains, June 28.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw still fears if her husband gets out of Matteawan he will attempt her life, she testified yesterday at the hearing of Harry K. Thaw's application for release from the asylum on the contention that he is now sane.

Mrs. Thaw seemed excited when she made this declaration, but Thaw put up a fan to his face and whispered something to her which made her smile.

Thaw hardly glanced at his wife during the time she was on the stand and she apparently was not aware that he was in the room, as not once did she look in his direction.

Mrs. Thaw declared she was an unwilling witness. "I've always desired to have my marriage annulled and get out of this business," said she. She is still being paid $500 per month by Thaw.

Clifford W. Hartridge, Thaw's former counsel, and Dr. Chas. G. Wagner, head of the state hospital for the insane at Binghamton, were witnesses.

The latter testified Thaw told him in the Tombs in 1906, shortly after the shooting of White, that he had not meant to kill White, but that "Providence had intervened and took the matter in hand."

Dramatic Notes

FAMILY THEATRE

The pleasure seekers of Dixon enjoyed a rare treat at the Family theatre last evening where vaudeville of rare quality and high class pictures are presented.

Mentalopathy proved its worth as a feature attraction in more ways than one and judging from the attendance on one of the hottest nights so far this year, the attraction by the Prescotts is a decided drawing card and box office magnet.

A fine picture opened the show and was followed by Rose & Ellis, who bill themselves the Jumping Jacks, featuring vaudeville's only lady clown, and they are all the bills imply, for during their specialty they jumped, bounded, leaped and rolled in and out of chairs, barrels, tables and anything within easy reach. The offering was well received.

The Mental Marvels, the Prescotts, were next to appear and their wonderful demonstrations of mysticism charmed, bewildered and baffled and held the audience under a spell for 25 minutes.

During their offering they present a series of tests, describing articles and pocket pieces, telling dates on coins and their value and mintage; they called the time by watches, the number on bank notes and any number of similar difficult tests.

Their strong feature and one new to an offering of this nature is termed the transmission of names. These young men, although they claim no supernatural power, a oint which cannot be understood by the writer unless due to modesty, actually call the names of people who are strangers to them, but prominent citizens and well known to Dixonites. To witness this feat alone is worth many times the price of admission and seeing is believing.

The Seventh Son, a feature film, closes the show and will be held over for Friday night by request.

A special matinee with features specially for ladies by the Prescotts and a circus act for the kiddies will be held Saturday afternoon at the Family.

PRINCESS THEATRE

If you want to find a cool place and enjoy yourself at the same time go to the Princess theatre.

For tonight the management has booked one of the most interesting and marvelous films on the market, entitled Hellogabalus, tyrant of Rome. This picture is pronounced by critics to be a marvelous film.

Don't fail to see The Distant Relative, a western comedy, showing what happened when a visiting aunt tried to manage a ranch and two nieces.

Father Beauclaire, a drama that will interest and appeal to everybody.

Hen's Ample Vocabulary.

It is claimed that the common hen is not far behind the turkey in her vocabulary. Furthermore, she is said to be a much more fluent "talker" than the rooster. Her cackle is used for three different purposes, and each cackle is different from the other cackles. One she uses when seeking a nest, or when calling for her mate; one when she is frightened; and another, of a triumphant sort, as she flies from or to the nest.

They Arouse the Appetite and Promote the Secretion of the Gastric Juice.

The spices are a very interesting group of substances; they are the foundation of a considerable industry, they have their medical uses and finally are of special importance in dietetics.

Their value resides in their richness in aromatic substances and essential oils; strictly speaking, they are not foods, but often enough they are essential elements in the diet. Spices have been the subject of classic research, as, for example, in the clover and important investigation which Pawlow undertook as to the psychical influences of food and as to the value of zest in nutrition.

Spices were shown to arouse appetite and to promote the secretion of the gastric juice, and the role they play therefore in dietetics is a very important one. The medicinal action of some of them is further of value. Allspice, for example, is used as an aromatic and has been successfully administered for flatulency or for over-coming griping due to purgatives, and occasionally it is reported that the oil gives relief in rheumatism and neuralgia.

The medical uses of cinnamon are well known. Cardamoms are used in the form of a tincture as aromatic and stomachic and they are also employed as a flavoring agent in curry powder, cakes and liqueurs. The applications of capsicum and the peppers generally are well known. Cloves are aromatic, carminative and stimulant and have been used in dyspepsia, gastric irritation and in cases of vomiting in pregnancy.

Oil of cloves is also a popular remedy for toothache. It has also its uses in microscopy as a preservative and for clearing sections. The uses of nutmeg are wide, vanilla has an enormous application as a flavoring patronage on account of its bright yellow color and pleasant musky flavor.—Lancet.

DRESS AND ITS PSYCHOLOGY

We Are Prone to Judge by External, Declares Harrison Fisher, the Famous Artist.

We are all of us prone to judge by externals, our early training in copy-book maxims notwithstanding, says Harrison Fisher in Dress.

Emeline may have a lovely disposition, but that cannot hide the fact that there are knots in her shoe-strings, and though Beatrice sings like an angel, her gown fastens most untidily. Emeline's friends might be almost as sweet tempered as she is if her boots were not enough to make them cross. No less would the songs of Beatrice stir more hearts without the distractions of gaping hooks and missing buttons. Externals do count, however broad we may think our views to be.

It is a common observation that a man gets an impression of a thing as a whole. If he notices any detail, it is apt to be a sign that something is wrong. Carelessness, however, is the dress of either men or women, is usually betrayed by details.

Suppose that we ourselves have so far developed our minds and sensibilities that we form our opinions by what is, and not by what seems, are we not in constant embarrassment explaining our careless friends to others who are less condoning? It is a very human failing to wish our friends to appear well, a kind of vanity, if you like, in proving the excellence of our own taste. There is no law requiring us to placard our qualities to open view. How can our fellow mortals get any idea of us at the start of acquaintance except by the eye?

Cannibal Fishes and Humane People.

While as a measure of economy the great majority of all the fishes and other creatures at the Aquarium are fed on dead food, such as cut up fish, or, as in the case of some of the larger ones, small dead fish whole, there are some fishes which if they are to be kept alive or in condition must have live food such as they would find in nature.

In their free state all fishes are cannibals. This is the way of nature. But among the visitors at the Aquarium there are people who consider the placing of live little fishes in the tanks to be devoured by bigger fish as cruel and in deference to this feeling the fishes that must be supplied with live food are fed before the Aquarium is opened in the morning and after it is closed at night.

MISS MINERVA and WILLIAM GREEN HILL

CHAPTER XXV.

Education and Its Perils.

It was a warm day in early August and the four children were sitting contentedly in the swing. They met almost every afternoon now, but were generally kept under strict surveillance by Miss Minerva.

"I won't be long 'fore we'll all hafta go to school," remarked Frances, "and I'll be mighty sorry; I wish we did n't ever hafta go to any old school."

"I wisht we knowed how to read an' write when we 's born," said Billy. "If I was God I'd make all my babies so 's they is already eddicated when they gits born. Reckon if we'd pray ev' night an' ask God, he'd learn them babies what he 's makin' on now how to read an' write?"

"I don't care nothing at all 'bout them babies," put in Jimmy, "I aint going to do us no good if all the new babies what Doctor Sanford finds can read and write; it'd jes' make 'em the sassiest things ever was. 'Sides, I got plenty things to ask God for 'bout fooling long other folks' brats, and I aint going to meddle with God's business now."

"Did you all hear what Miss Larrimore, who teaches the little children at school, said about us?" asked Lina importantly.

"Naw," they chorused, "what was it?"

"She told the superintendent," was the reply of Lina, pleased with herself and with that big word, "that she would have to have more money next year, for she heard that Lina Hamilton, Frances Black, William Hill and Jimmy Garner were all coming to school, and she said we were the most notorious bad children in town."

"She is the spitefullest woman they is," Jimmy's black eyes snapped; "she 'bout the meddlesomest teacher in town."

"Who told you 'bout it, Lina?" questioned the other little girl.

"The superintendent told his wife and you know how some ladies are—they just can't keep a secret. Now it is just like burying it to tell mother anything; she never tells anybody but father, and grandmother, and grandfather, and Uncle Ed, and Brother Johnson, and she makes them promise never to breathe it to a living soul. But the superintendent's wife is different; she tells ev'rything she hears, and now everybody knows what that teacher said about us."

"Everybody says she is the crankiest teacher they is," cried Jimmy, "she won't let you bring nothing to school 'cepting your books; you can't even take your slingshot, nor your air-gun, nor—"

"Nor your dolls," chimed in Frances, "and she won't let you bat your eye, nor say a word, nor cross your legs, nor blow your nose."

"What do she think we 's goin' to her ol' school fer if we can't have fun?" asked Billy. "Tabernicle sho' had fun when he went to school. He put a pin in the teacher's chair an' she sat down on it plumb up to the head, an' he tie the strings together with two nigger gals had they hair wropped with, an' he squeeze up a little boy's legs in front of him with a rooster foot tell he squalled out loud, an' he th'owed spitballs, an' he make him some watermelon teeth, an' he paint a chicken light red an' tuck it to the teacher for a dodo, an' he put cotton in his pants 'fore he got licked, an' he drew the teacher on a slate. That 's what you go to school fer is to have fun, an' I sho' 's goin' to have fun when I goes, an' I aint goin' to take no bulldozin' offer her, neither."

"I bet we can squelch her," cried Frances, vindictively.

"Yes, we'll show her a thing or two"—for once Jimmy agreed with her, "she 'bout the butt-in-est old woman they is, and she's going to find out we 'bout the squelchiest kids ever she tackle."

"Alfred Gage went to school to her last year," said Frances, "and he can read and write."

"Yes," joined in Jimmy, "and he 'bout the proudest boy they is; all on the train just 'cause you down to town got to write his name all over everything."

"You member 'bout last Communion Sunday," went on the little girl,

"when they hand roun' the little envelops and telled all the folks what was willing to give five dollars more on the pastor's sally just to write his name; so Alfred he so frisky 'cause he know how to write; so he taken one of the little envelops and wroten 'Alfred Gage' on it; so when his papa find out 'bout it he say that kid got to work and pay that five dollars hisself, 'cause he done sign his name to it."

"And if he aint 'bout the sickest kid they is," declared Jimmy; "I'll betcher he won't get fresh no more soon. He telled me the other day he aint had a drink of soda water this summer, 'cause every nickel he gets got to go to Mr. Pastor's sally; he says he plumb tired supporting Brother Johnson and all his family; and, he say, every time he go up town he sees Johnny Johnson a-setting on a stool in Baltzer's drug store just a-swiggling milk-shakes, he says he going to knock him off some day 'cause it's his nickels that kid 's a-spending."

There was a short silence, broken by Billy, who remarked, apropos of nothing:

"I sho' is glad I don't hafta be a 'oman when I puts on long pants; mens is heap mo' account."

"I wouldn't be a woman for nothing at all," Jimmy fully agreed with him; "they have the pokiest time they is."

"I'm glad I am going to be a young lady when I grow up," Lina declared. "I wouldn't be a gentleman for anything. I'm going to wear pretty clothes and be beautiful and be a belle like mother was, and have lots of lovers kneel at my feet on one knee and play the guitar with the other—"

"How they goin' to play the guitar with the other knee?" asked the practical Billy.

"And sing 'Call Me Thine Own,'" she continued, ignoring his interruption. "Father got on his knees to mother thirty-seven-and-a-half times before she'd say, 'I will.'"

"Looks like he'd a' wore his breeches out," said Billy.

"I don't want to be a lady," declared Frances; "they can't ever ride straddle nor climb a tree, and they got to squinch up their waists and toes. I wish I could kiss my elbow right now and turn to a boy."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Unconditional Surrender.

"They 's going to be a big nigger 'scursion to Memphis at 'leven o'clock," said Jimmy as he met the other little boy at the dividing fence; "Sam Lamb 's going and most all the niggers they is. Sarah Jane 'lowed she 's going, but she aint got nobody to 'tend to Bennie Dick. Wouldn't you like to go, Billy?"

"You can't go 'thout you 's a nigger," was the reply; "Sam Lamb say they aint no white folks 'lowed on this train 'ceptin' the engineer an' conductor."

"Sam Lamb 'd take care of us if we could go," continued Jimmy. "Let 's slip off and go down to the depot and see the niggers get on. There 'll be 'bout a million."

Billy's eyes sparkled with appreciation.

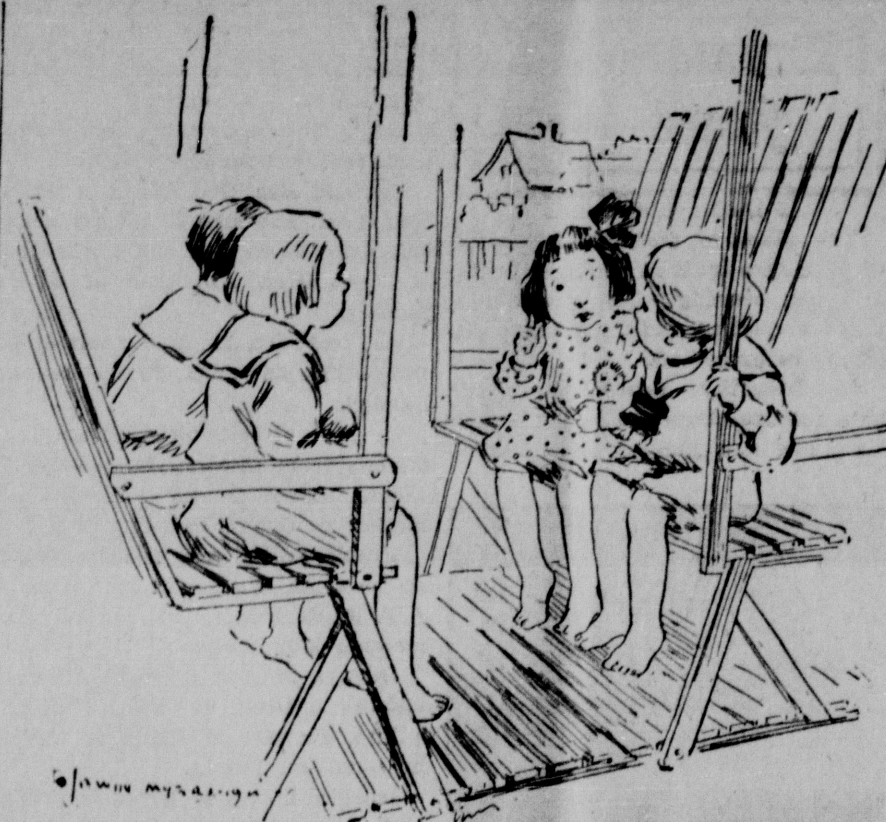

"I sho' wish I could," he said; "but Aunt Minerva 'd make me stay in bed a whole week if I went near the railroad."

"My mama 'd gimme 'bout a million licks, too, if I projected with a nigger 'scursion; she 'bout the spankinest woman they is. My papa put some burnt cork on his face in the Knights or Pyth's minstrels and I know where we can get some to make us black; you go get Miss Minerva's ink bottle, too, that 'll help some, and get some matches, and I 'll go get the cork and we can go to Sarah Jane's house and make usselfs black."

"I aint never promise not to black up and go down to the depot," said Billy waveringly. "I promise not to never be no mo' Injun—I—"

"Well, run then," Jimmy interrupted impatiently. "We 'll just slip down to the railroad and take a look 'bout the niggers. You don't hafta go 'bout the proudest boy they is; all on the train just 'cause you down to town got to write his name all over everything."

"You member 'bout last Communion Sunday," went on the little girl,

HAPPY WOMEN

PLENTY OF THEM IN DIXON AND GOOD REASON FOR IT.

Wouldn't any woman be happy. After years of backache suffering. Days of misery, nights of unrest. The distress of urinary troubles. When she finds freedom.

Many readers will profit by the following:

Mrs. C. Charlton, 77 Peoria Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "All the people to whom I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills have found them satisfactory. It gives me pleasure to confirm all I said about this remedy when I first endorsed it. I had suffered for quite a long time from pains in my back and sides and they were particularly severe at night and early in the morning. After stooping it was hard to straighten and my kidneys were unnatural. Finally I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. It did not take them long to give me relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Solid As a Rock!

Here is the absolutely new anchoring device used only on the old reliable Saginaw Silo, which makes it as solid as a piece of granite—immovable as a mountain. It is our Handy Inner Anchoring Hoop, which circles the inside of the silo above the silage and directly opposite the top outside hoop. It supports any stave that might loosen and prevents them falling inward. Once in place, it needs no attention, no adjusting. Cables from anchoring points to ground rods complete support that dynamite could hardly move. No loose staves! No falling in! No blowing down! Write today for details. MAY END DARROW CASE

Continued Wrangling of Counsel May Cause Non-Suit.

Rogers Completes Cross-Examination of John R. Harrington—Witness Makes No New Disclosures.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27.—Owing to the continued wrangling and the bitter controversies incidental to the conduct of the Darrow case, it is reported that the case will be non-suited.

The court, lawyers and jury are constantly on edge as to the outcome of each day's session. In the event of such a step the case will be thrown out of court.

Earl Rogers completed the cross-examination of John R. Harrington, and the state began the re-direct examination this morning.

Rogers went into further detail concerning the famous dictograph conversation, and drew from the witness various answers which indicate that Darrow made few admissions of any connection with the jury bribery, or other alleged crimes in the McNamara defense.

Gets Corns on Ears.
Mount Clemens, Mich.—There is a merry war on in the local telephone exchange. On one side are thirty sweet-voiced operators with a medium-sized district manager as their opponent.

The operators are compelled to wear a headband contrivance while on duty, and the claim of the girls is that the contrivance causes corns to form upon their ears. They declare that if the manager does not provide another sort of appliance for holding the receivers they will leave the office.
